

The charge to the Pathways to Discovery Task Force Subcommittee on Clinical and Translational Research is to define a course of study to train individuals for academic or leadership positions in medicine with an emphasis on clinical and translational research. This program should have both UME and GME components that are linked to allow trainees to develop along a well-defined pathway with multiple entry points.